STRATEGY Arts

Leverage Your Best Thinking

At Strategy Arts we offer enriching planning programs that provide just the right amount of support to clients, helping them do as much as possible themselves so they learn by doing while developing a plan informed by analysis that they truly own and can communicate clearly both inside and outside the organization.

Stakeholder Involvement

One of the most important things to get right in planning is the alignment of stakeholders around planning goals and the actions required to achieve them. We have designed our Planning Management program to help charter school leaders collaborate with staff, boards, and other important stakeholders to agree on common goals at critical points in the planning process.

The Right Level of Support

Effective planning requires activities at many levels, including research, project planning, analysis, and reporting. Experience and available resources to conduct these activities vary widely by client. We have designed our service plan options to allow clients to choose just those things they need, providing the right support at the right point in the planning process.

Experienced Consultants

An experienced consultant leads each service area we offer. Our consultants' expertise includes Strategic Planning, Charter School Management and Development, Financial Modeling, Leadership Development and Marketing.

A Range of Options

To enable each client to choose the most appropriate level of service, we have organized our offerings into a Planning Management base program, a Comprehensive Planning Program, and a supporting range of À La Carte services.

Planning Management

A base program that provides support and project management to help charter school staff and boards in the research, critical decision-making and implementation actions that underpin successful planning.

Comprehensive Planning

A complete planning program that combines our Planning Management program with the research and analysis activities required for a complete strategic growth plan.
